Supporting statement

I love theatre since very young age. At 5 or so I was taught to sing by a teacher, who was an actor of a Cheo village troupe, a North Vietnamese traditional singing genre. You can see examples here (https://www.youtube.com/results?search\_query=hat+cheo), I learned to stand on my tiptoe (pointe) when I was 11 for I love ballet, and made several types of puppets (hands, sticks, and marionettes, even the shadows ones) after watching several puppet shows. I even created theatre box, drawn and perform set constructions on them, learned to create a drawn curtains etc.. I later tried to enrol into Cheo Central Art Troupe after graduated high school, but my grandad forbidden me. I also tried to enrol into Drama School in Vietnam but failed due to my cross-eyes problem at the time, which has now been surgically corrected. I studied fine arts privately for several years and took one pre-university provisional year boarding school at Vietnamese Industrial Art University (<http://mythuatcongngghiep.edu.vn>), but was discriminated against due to my Chinese background when enter into the first year University level, though exam result surpassed the requirement marks, after which we left Vietnam for Hong Kong and became boat people. I continued to learn painting and drawing and have a very acute sense of colour tones and their relationships in designs. You can see them in my portfolio. I also took 10 years continually learning photography (I can show you my photos as well). Though I have never had the opportunity to develop further in a commercial environment, the love for theatre will never left me because when I dance, sing, or drawing/painting, I felt like I'm flying. I won't be entering my tedious CV here online, but I will show you or send you electronically if required.

Additional skills
